INNOVATIVE IDEAS FOR KITCHENS, BATHROOMS AND PROJECTS

COFFEE TALK
Coffee aficionados, this one's for you: you can now get barista-grade brews at home with La Pavoni's range of semi-professional coffee machines. The Cellini Classic, Cellini Evoluzione and Botticelli Speciality machines combine timeless style with the brand's expertise and attention to detail. This is an investment you'll be grateful for every morning. From £1,649.95 for the Cellini Classic (pictured); £2,649.95 for the Botticelli, La Pavoni

MATERIAL MATTERS
Feast your eyes on Musa, the new modular Scavolini kitchen by Vuesse. It's a masterclass in materials, with three new pearl-effect colours (one of which is shown here on the tall units) and a perforated metal sheet surface, as well as new handles in two finishes. After all, just because it's a kitchen doesn't mean you can't be playful with your design. Musa collection, price on request, Scavolini

FORM & FUNCTION
You'll know Caesarstone for its quartz surfaces, but the brand is branching out with a new range of porcelain worktops. Made from ceramic clays and minerals, porcelain is beautiful as well as functional – and chief designer Mor Krisher was keen to embrace its materiality and texture: 'We wanted the feeling to be natural above all,' says Mor. Heat- and UV-resistant and easy to clean, there are more than 20 design options to choose from – all backed by Caesarstone's lifetime warranty. 501 Snowdrift worktop from the Porcelain Collection, £600sq m, Caesarstone

Buster + Punch has been busy with new launches. The first, a new shelving solution, features two designs: Girder, an aluminium shelf with delicate metal guard rail, and Hanger, which features all of the above plus a solid metal pan rail. The second is CAST, a hand-cast hardware range. Both boast the brand's attention to detail and luxe industrial style. Prices start at £550 for Girder and from £650 for Hanger; CAST starts from £65, Buster + Punch
