We offer a curated edit of Salone del Mobile.Milano 2022, which this year included Eurocucina, FTK – Technology For the Kitchen and the Internazionale Bathroom Show all held together

International furniture fair Salone del Mobile.Milano returned to the Fiera Milano fairground as a full-scale live event, attracting more than 260,000 visitors in 2022. Having been cancelled in 2020 and held in a scaled-down version (Supersalone) in 2021, its 60th edition was finally rescheduled from April to June because of COVID safety concerns. This edition of Salone del Mobile.Milano saw EuroCucina, FTK – Technology For the Kitchen and the Internazionale Bathroom Exhibition, all making a return since 2018 and held together for the very first time. And alongside the show, bathroom and kitchen manufacturers also held events across the design districts of Milan, as part of Fuorisalone.

Official figures reported over 262,608 people attended Salone del Mobile.Milano, over the six days, with visitors from 173 countries to see 2,175 brands. Here is our curated edit of kitchen, appliance and bathroom brands at the exhibition, which represent aesthetics set to influence the UK high street.

EUROCUCINA

1. SCAVOLINI

Italian kitchen and bathroom manufacturer Scavolini returned to Salone del Mobile with two exhibition spaces created by architect Fabio Novembre. They played host to debut collections, including Jeometrica and Libra. Jeometrica has the defining feature of a tubular handle which runs across cabinets and a laminate wall panel in three shapes, while Libra features pearlescent colours in gloss or matt lacquer and flat or ribbed doors.
