INNOVATIVE IDEAS FOR KITCHENS, BATHROOMS AND PROJECTS

INDUSTRIAL STYLE

The Diesel Get Together kitchen by Scavolini is a clever progression from the hugely successful Diesel Social kitchen. The idea is that individual components can be put together to create a personalised look ideal for a kitchen-living space. Fancy merging the rooms even more? Get Together is completed by the Misfits range of painted metal storage elements, including trolleys, tables and cabinets, for that oh-so-desirable un-kitcheny look. Diesel Get Together kitchens, from £15,000 (scavolini.com)

colour hit

Villeroy & Boch has unveiled four new colours in its best-selling Artis basin range – Indian Summer, Sage Green, Rust and Bordeaux. Created by German-Danish designer Gesa Hansen, the design sees a striking shade on the exterior contrasted with an alpine white interior. Artis basin, from £356.74 (villeroy-boch.co.uk)

Roca's Luna mirror cabinets come in several widths with two height-adjustable shelves, from £314. (roca.com)

finishing line

Warmer finishes continue to dominate bathrooms and BC Designs has taken note and now launched all its taps and showers in copper and brushed copper. This elegant bath shower mixer, which is available wall-mounted or with crosshead handles, can also be used on freestanding legs. The classic headset and spout design offer maximum flexibility – ideal whether you are a dedicated bath-lover or a shower fiend. Victrion deck-mounted lever bath shower mixer, £806; Victrion traditional cast bath legs, £495 (bcdesigns.co.uk)

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Corston's new solid brass spotlight range comes in two options, both with flexible pivot joints to direct the light – Baylis (shown) has a gently rounded mounting, while Perryn fits flush. Choose from bronze, antique brass, unlacquered brass and polished nickel finishes. From £62.40 (corston.com)
